Looking for Local Heroes!

Who do you know in Tealing who deserves to have their efforts for the local community formally recognised?

Last year, in April 2010, the Community Council made the first Local Hero Award for outstanding community service to the late Councillor Frank Ellis. It was a popular decision because Frank had served this area selflessly and enthusiastically for over 20 years – achieving many improvements and enhancements that made a real difference to people's lives. His widow, Mrs Kay Ellis, was very moved by the Tealing Local Hero Award and accepted it with pride on Frank's behalf.

We feel sure there are many others deserving of such recognition - people who do that bit extra or perhaps bring recognition and improved reputation for the village through their wider achievements. If you know someone who fits the bill, please complete and return the nomination form on the back page, by 30 June 2011.

If several folk are nominated, all residents will then have the opportunity to vote. The Community Council will announce the decision in the autumn. So, let's identify Tealing's local heroes and make sure they get some well earned recognition.

Some Ideas for Village Events

The Community Council and Hall Committee held their first joint meeting recently to discuss the results of last year's resident's survey and the scope for joint working. Many participants said they would like to see a major summer event at some point in the future and there were a few ideas for the winter festive season. With that in mind, we are now looking at the possibility of holding a large weekend fun event in June 2012 to celebrate the Olympics coming to the UK.

Events also being considered for later this year include erecting a Christmas tree with lights in the hall car park and holding a lights switch-on with carol singing and refreshments afterwards. The possibility of a Hogmanay party or ceilidh is also being considered. To take these ideas forward an Events Committee is being set up and will be looking for input from all local community groups, the church and school – all of whom have expressed positive interest. Watch this space!

Calling all budding writers!

Local man, Mark McGowan (who also runs the yoga class in Tealing Hall) is a keen writer and is looking for like-minded folk interested in setting up a Writers Group. Some ideas for what the group could do include:

- Learn the basics of creative writing
- Record local stories before they are lost from memory
- Support others in creating short stories and poems
- Have fun and a good blether!

Expressions of interest should be sent to Mark at mcgowanmark@hotmail.co.uk or Tel 07960 819801
